Thinking Out Loud

The Seattle Times editorially hails a congress which has at last tumbled to the idea that the folks back home want them to quit spending for anything but domestic essentials and the war endeavor. In this column, long before war was declared earnest protest was made against the wastes, the heedless, headlong spending of the Roosevelt administration upon reforms which have destroyed in a large section of the population that self-reliance and independence of thought and action which made this nation great.

Now that we are at war, it is even more imperative that spending on Utopian fancies be reduced to zero. Spending for the war is putting first things first. When citizens are continually exhorted to give to various war relief agencies, to buy bonds until it hurts, and to submit willingly, as the great majority do, to taxes that fairly benumb the pocket nerve, it is high time that congress quit spending for anything except the most necessary things in civil life, and for the vital needs of arming and maintaining our fighting forces.

The Seattle Times editorial follows:

More and more members of congress seem to be grasping the idea that public opinion demands curtailment of government spending for purposes other than war. In various committees and as individuals they are beginning to act as if they meant to do something about it.

The house appropriations committee has actually put through a number of specific reductions in providing for the next fiscal year; but though spurred almost daily by Senator Byrd, chairman of the special committee on non-war expenditures, the senate continues to stall.

Congress has been directly informed by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Budget Director Smith that large savings can be made. Various more or less detailed plans for saving have been presented by the Brookings Institute, the National Manufacturers' Association, the National Economy League, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the Citizens Emergency Committee, and other organizations of high repute.

All the information given to congress, all the plans available for study, point to an annual saving of not less than $2,000,000,000. No one is urging that this money be "saved" in the sense of squirreling it away. The whole argument is that it should be saved from useless spending for purposes that may well be suspended at least for the duration. Addressing the United States Chamber of Commerce recently, Senator Tydings of Maryland said:

"'Two billion dollars a year is five million dollars a day; and in these days when we are taxing people to the bone and will shortly tax them more, and are requesting them to give up every cent they possibly can, I cannot understand why an aroused public would not want every bit of economy in Washington that could be secured without impairing or hurting the force of our war effort."

Among the resolutions adopted by the chamber was one reading in part, "Activities not primarily concerned with the war effort should be abolished or cut to the barest minimum. The war label should not be used to cover non-essential undertakings or avoidable waste."

These are the points some congressmen seem to have missed, or have refused to recognize. A pernicious lobby labors for the benefit of the numerous non-war spending agencies, and keeps many senators and representatives bemused. They do not wish to do anything contrary to the wishes of the administration, much less to affect adversely their chances in the fall elections.

The demand for reduced spending is not meant to knock over any so-called social gains. It is sincerely meant to aid in winning the war. This is the supreme national objective; and the desire of political office holders to go on with non-essential spending should not be permitted to retard its attainment.

Local Boy Meets Death Under Auto

Two year old Howell D. Holcumb, Jr., met a tragic death shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was crushed under the wheel of an automobile operated by Robert V. Tontjien, piano tuner, who recently came here from Auburn.

Tontjien had driven Holcumb, Sr., to his home. When he drove the car into the Holcumb yard he noticed the child and his sister, Polly Marie playing nearby.

After Holcumb had gotten out of the car, Tontjien started out and one of the wheels went over the body of the child, who had in the meantime, unawares to Tonejien, moved in front of the auto. Death was almost instantaneous.

Coroner A. M. Halmes, Chief of Police Max Solaro and Undersheriff William D. Woods conducted an investigation. Tontjien was not held.

The child in addition to his parents and sister, leaves a brother, Robert.

The body is at the Holmes Funeral Home, where final rites are being arranged.

NEVADA CITY BOOSTED AS RESIDENCE SITE

President George Gildersleeve and Secretary H. F. Sofge of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce motored to Marysville Tuesday to boost Nevada City as a living site for cantonment workers and families army officers who will be stationed at the army camp when it is completed.

The officials of the local booster organization believe their trip was productive of results. They found that the housing situation has been taken out of the hands of the Marysville Chamber of Commerce and is now being handled by the USO.

Literature pertaining to Nevada City was left at the USO headquarters and the local men were told that data regarding Nevada City as a living spot will be given out to those seeking information.

Gildersleeve and Sofge found that at the present time Marysville appears to be no more crowded than the community was several months ago. Many are moving into the city but it was learned that about an equal number are leaving so the town does not appear to be seriously over populated.

FARM ADVISOR REQUEST DENIED

The Nevada County Board of Supervisors yesterday denied the request of a large group of farmers and civic leaders of the Grass Valley district for the estaablishing of a farm advisor in this county.

A delegation seeking a farm advisor appeared before the board at its meeting the first of the month. Yesterday Supervisor Frank Rowe made a motion that a farm advisor office be established but there was no second to the motion.

The board at yesterday's meeting also accepted the new $20,000 addition to the county hospital. Paul Jenks was the contractor.

Road claims were approved at yesterday's meeting.

MOVING TO SAN FRANCISCO

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Royer are preparing to depart for San Francisco, where Royer has accepted a position. Royer or several years has been connected with the Holmes Funeral Home as an embalmer. The Royers resided in an apartment above the Holmes Parlors in this city.

Rev. Cedric S. Porter Ordination Rites Were Beautiful, Impressive

Beautiful and impressive were the rites held at the Trinity Episcoal Church here yesterday afternoon marking the formal ordination to the Diaconate of the Episcopal Church of Cedric Starling Porter, son of Bishop Noel Porter.

Bishop Porter officiated at the ceremony, assisted by Archdeacon Rex A. Barron of Sacramento, Rev. Herndon C. Ray of Woodland, Rev. Carl N. Tamblyn of Marysville and Rev. H. T. Pateman of Napa.

One interesting feature of the service was that there were three former rectors of Trinity Church present. They were Rev. Pateman, Rev. Walker Gage of Red Bluff and Rev. Charles Pearson of Sacramento.

Trinity Church was filled with members and friends of the parish for the ordination services.

On the terraces of the beautiful gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Percy V. Carr on Nevada Street, in the midst of lovely rhododendrons, roses and flowering shrubs and under the shade of fragrant pines and cedars a luncheon was served to fifty visiters and guests who journeyed to Nevada City to attend the diaconate ordination.

Many of the guests stated that it was in the most beautiful setting they had ever enjoyed a luncheon. Some were widely traveled and marveled at the beauty and landscaping of this garden in a mountain town. It will be a gathering and setting long remembered by them.

The delicious luncheon was served by a committee of ten members o St. Agnes Guild and from the expressions of appreciation it is certain that it too was greatly enjoyed.

BPWC FESTIVAL TO BE HELD AT PIONEER PARK

By DOROTHY ADAMS

The second annual carnival of the BPWC is to be held in Pioneer Park on June 24. Jesse Robinson, finance chairman is in charge of the event and man attractions are promised. A pot luck dinner wiill be served and members are invited to bring as many guests as they desire.

It was announced that $5 had been raised and given to the Red Cross for articles needed to fill the comfort kits. Those members who have not contributed are asked to contact Jesse Robinson at once and do so. The Red Cross needs funds to complete these kits so that our soldiers can be made more comfortable.

Eleven club members participated in the United China War Relief Parade in Grass Valley on June 6. Cars decorated in red, white and blue were driven by Genevieve Elliott, Jessie Robinson and Dorothy Adams.

The following committee was named to act with Jessie Robinson to make the coming carnival asuccess, Lilah Clark, Miriam Skeahan, Ethel White, Claire Randall, Mary Lou Steger, Dolly Peterson and Maudie Shaw.

SWIMMING POOL TO OPEN SOON

Be patient, Nevada City kids.

Within a day or so, the municipal swimming pool will be open.

Life guard Rolland Garwood is busy preparing for the opening, knowing how anxious local children are to take their first dip of the year now that the weather is much warmer.

LOCAL NATIVE DAUGHTERS WILL ATTEND MEET

Beryl Granholm, Thelma Butz, Phoebe Maguire and Adeline O'Connor of Laurel Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West of Nevada City, are preparing to leave for Oakland, where they will attend the annual grand convention of Native Daughters. The convention opens on Monday and will continue for three days.

Notwithstanding the unusual restrictions placed on travel, it is expected that the attendance at the convention from all parts of California will assume large proportions for in no other organization can there be found greater loyalty to "Golden West", or more active interest in all affairs that concern the welfare of the great west.

Beth Wilson, president of Laurel Parlor, had been elected as a delegate to attend the convention but found she will be unable to take advantage of the opportunity.

ADJ. A. KRANZ ROTARY SPEAKER

Adjustant A. Kranz of the Salvation Army was the guest speaker at the Rotary Club here today.

Kranz, who appeared before the organization at the request of Judge George L. Jones, explained the work of the Salvation Army and urged support of the annual drive for funds which opens in Nevada City tomorrow.

Kranz, and Major David Davidson, who is in charge of the work in Nevada County, told of the need to give generously to the cause this year.

TRI COUNTY CHROME GROUP MEETS HERE

....H. R. Robbins, manager of the chrome and manganese stockpile which will soon be established at Bowman, Placer County, reported at Monday night's meeting here of the Tri County Chrome Association that shippers should receive their money within one week after the metals are delivered.

Robbins, who arrived in Auburn from Washington, D. C. last week to take charge of the stockpile, reported also that only chromite or manganese will be purchased at the stock-pile and that any manganese lower than 35 per cent will not be accepted.

Robbins said everything was in readiness to receive chrome and manganese at the Bowman depot except for the signing of a lease with the Southern Pacific Railroad. It is probable, he said, the first delivery at the stockpile can be made by Monday.

Hal Draper, Nevada City assayer, reported there was not much chrome or manganese mining activity in Nevada County because the price of the metals "is too low for the hazard involved."

Luke Williams, Grass Valley mining man, asked Robbins why chrome under 35 per cent would not be accepted, stating during World War I the metal carrying that percentage was purchased. Robbins said he could not answer that question.

Nevada County mining men reported most of the chrome in this county ran around 30 per cent.

J. P. Hall, president of the association, was authorized to assist chrome and manganese producers in other counties in organizing groups similar to the Tri County Chrome Association.

Howard Ward, secretary, was elected to serve also as treasurer. Placerville was selected as the next meeting site. The meeting will be held on Friday, June 19th.

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen, Hal Draper and George Hallock were elected Nevada County directors of the association. Tobiassen will serve as vice president.

FORMER GOLD FLAT RESIDENT SUCCUMBS

Final rites were held at the St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Grass Valley this morning for Mrs. Merciella Dorothy Baldwin, 58, wife of Ed Baldwin of Grass Valley. The family resided in Gold Flat for many years.

Mrs. Baldwin died in a hospital here. In addition to her husband she leaves three children and five brothers and sisters.

Finnegan Is Endorsed By 3 Groups

Local supporters of Frank G. Finnegan, Nevada City attorney who announced his candidacy for Congress from the Second District several days ago, report enthusiastic response to Finnegan's announcement have been received from all parts of the Second District.

The Democratic Central Committees of Nevada, Sierra and Plumas Counties have already endorsed Finnegan. It is believed the Democratic Central Committees of the other 15 counties in the district will follow suit.

Meanwhile on the home front, it was announced Finnegan's nomination papers on both the Democratic and Republican tickets have been filed.

Secretary of State Paul Peek also reported in Sacramento that the name of Incumbent Harry L. Englebright has been qualified for the ballot at the primary election on both the Republican and Democratic tickets. Englebright is a Republican.

Nevada City supporters of Finnegan, both Democrats and Republicans, are planning to organize a Finnegan for Congress Club and it is probable the first meeting will be held within a week or two.

CHERRY FETE SET FOR JUNE 20

The North San Juan Improvement League has selected Saturday, June 20th, as the date for the annual North San Juan Cherry Carnival.

Plans are now being made for the event, which each year attracts hundreds of former residents and those who desire to have a good time.

As in past years, cherries will be distributed free. The cherry carnival has been an annual event since 1914.

HYDRAULIC GROUP WILL MEET SUNDAY IN GRASS VALLEY

The California Hydraulic Mining Association will hold its annual election meeting at the Bret Harte Inn in Grass Valley Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A dinner will be served at noon for those desiring to participate in the usual luncheon program which precedes the regular session.

Secretary W. W. Esterly reports the hydraulic association is actively engaged in the war program in many ways.

"At the last meeting," he reports, "it was decided to start a community scrap pile to help fill the vital need of scrap metals. This scrap pile will be on the Grass Valley-Nevada City highway just north of my home, which is adjoining Hills Flat. A large sign will tell everyone of our effert and you are asked to bring some bit of scrap to start it off when you attend the meeting Sunday."

BANK OF AMERICA HAS 1255 OF ITS EMPLOYEES IN SERVICE

With simple ceremony, a war service flag was unfurled today at the branch of the Bank of America in Nevada City, showing that 1255 men of the bank had responded to the call to arms.

The flag, unfurled by H. A. Curnow, manager, in the presence of the staff, consists of a large blue star on the white background, framed with a red border. The number of men in the services is indicated by white numerals on the blue star. Men who have given their lives are represented by individual gold stars, and four such stars are now attached to the flag.

Mr. Curnow pointed out that while additional men from the bank's state wide organization were going into the armed force daily, the numerals on the flag will be changed only once a month.

Rev. David Ralston left yesterday for San Francisco to visit with his wife, who is recuperating from a recent operation.

Caught in the Riffles

Elwood Stone the Tahoe National Forest dispatcher, upon his return from the fire training school, is confined to his home with a case of measles. According to Mrs. Stone he is resting comfortably and should be up and around in a few days. Dick Rafferty, Tahoe law enforcement officer, is of the opinion that the porcupine which crawled in bed with Stone while he was at the school was a juvenile porky and a carrier of the measles.

Typographical errors will occur and boy! what a razzing the newspapers take when they do.

Just to demonstrate how observing newspaper readers are, at least a half dozen of our acquaintances called to our attention the dateline in Sunday's Morning Union. It read: "Sunday, June 7, 1492."

Sacramento Bee readers were quick to notice in Saturday's issue that a story started out "Bold Miners Union" instead of "Gold Miners Union." Protective League members particularly enjoyed that.

Jack Hubbard's faith in mankind has soared. The other day he received a ten cent piece in the mail. It was from a man who had secured a ten cent cigar on credit! The man left Nevada City but he still remembered his obligation.

The city settled Ted Sigourney's $900 labor claim for $800. . . Ray Worthley, who resigned as warehouse manager for the Tahoe National Forest, has secured a position in the machine shop at the Lava Cap Mine so he will not go to the bay area to work. . . The other night employees reporting to work at one of the larger Grass Valley mines, besides the maintenance men, and six contractors, were one miner, two timbermen and no muckers! Some of the mines are transferring most of their men to straight day shift. The shortage of labor every once in a while causes a shutdown of the mills at the various mines because enough ore is not mined to keep the mills working on the usual 24 hour basis.

Walking down the streets at Happy Camp is just like walking down Broad Street in Nevada City. Anyway, that what Tony Deschwanden says. Tony, here to get another load of machinery from the Murchie for the Gray Eagle Mine, said most of the men working at the Happy Camp property are former Nevada City residents and the majority have their families living with them. The climate at Happy Camp is just about the same as Nevada City.

PEACE OFFICERS DANCE SATURDAY

Peace officers of Nevada County are enthusiastically boosting for the annual Nevada-Sierra Peace Officers Association ball, which will be held Saturday night at the Veterans Memorial Building in Grass Valley.

Many tickets have been sold for the ball and it is probable there will be a record crowd attending the event.

The Eddie Meltz orchestra has been secured to play at the ball.

BULLS-EYE FOR WARREN

One shot—one bulls-eye. That's the score for Attorney General Earl Warren after his first out-and-out campaign speech in his bid for election as California's war-time governor.

This opening gun of Warren's non-partisan campaign was fired at a joint convention of central California Republicans and Young Republicans of California at Stockton Saturday night, and with it Warren scored a direct hit on the fundmental issue of the election.

"I would not be a candidate," said Warren, "if I believed the present governor of California had demonstrated a willingness and a capacity to give us the kind of leadership which the present emergency demands.

"A governor who can't command unity in his own high command, who is intemperate in his every word and act and who is intolerant of all who honestly differ with him, presents a sorry spectacle when he goes before the people with a plea for unity.

"The people, I repeat, are already united. The people already have demonstrated their willingness to sacrifice. The people aren't at fault in this situation. The fault lies with a leadership which is still thinking in terms of selfish interest and partisanship."

Right there, in three paragraphs of reasoned and dignified language, is point No. 1 in the case against Governor Olson.

There are a lot more points on which Olson has failed miserably to measure up to a governor's standards—and to the qualities of leadership and statesmanship which Earl Warren, on the other hand, is well known to possess.

But none of these other points would need to be made or mentioned if only Point No. 1, all by itself, could be sufficiently impressed on the voters.

The present governor—has not the willingness or capacity to give us leadership. Intemperate in word and act! Intolerant of all who honestly differ with him! Still thinking in terms of selfish interest and partisanship!

Such a man does, in truth, "present a sorry spectacle when he goes before the people with a plea for unity."

THE BOY WITH THE HOE

The 'teen age is a tragic age for a boy when his country is at war. In his dreams he joins in high adventure—sweeps the skies in a bomber, presses the trigger of a Garand, turns the tide of battle for America. Then he must wake to the world of cold reality, where he is only a kid, too young to fight.

But now a real call to war service has gone out to the hundreds of thousands of California boys—boys of all ages. The call is from the farms, where worried farmers face an emergency in food production because of the shortage of labor. Lack of help in the sugar beet fields already has caused loss of enough sugar to supply two weeks' rations for 21,000,000 persons! Crop losses are reported from the cotton and peach orchard areas! Crop losses will grow and the variety of crops affected increase rapidly, as the summer advances—unless the appeal for help of the farmers of California and the entire nation is met by volunteers.

This call is echoed in the cities, where chambers of commerce and service clubs are organizinz for vacations in the fields, and the AWVS is enlisting women for the lighter farm tasks. The call is echoed from far-away England—so heavily dependent upon America for supplies of food—through the British War Relief, which has launched a war-time harvest recruiting service in California.

The call should bring quick response from eager kids too young to fight. It is a call for sacrifice of all that normal vacation time holds for a boy—lazy afternoons at the beach, baseball, fishing expeditions. It is a call to back-breaking work under the hot summer sun. But it is a call to service as real as the service of MacArthur's men. The farm tractor is a weapon in this war no less potent for final victory than the battle tank. The soldier with the rifle fights on one front — and the boy with the hoe on another.

SHYLOCK IN SACRAMENTO

The taxpayers' proverbial complaint that a tax once levied is a tax forever, is strikingly confirmed by the case of the California Income Tax.

The state's revenue for the last fiscal year was approximately $300,000,000. Of that total, the state income tax was only a drop in the bucket—$20,292,746. Since the state is now taking in a hundred million dollars a year more than it pays out, and is piling up a huge surplus with each passing month, it is simple arithmetic that the income tax receipts are no longer needed by the state treasury.

On the other hand, the federal government's urgent need for enormously increased income taxes must be met. And so, the logical thing for any war-prosperous state that has an income tax is to lift it from the bowed backs of its citizens in this crisis. It would be a trifling sum for the state to give up—but a mighty important sum to individuals.

Yet the state administration has turned a deaf ear to every plea for income tax repeal. The citizens themselves have taken the first step by placing the repeal initiative on the November election ballot. And if the tax is to be eliminated, they must vote it out of existence themselves, for Governor Olson's administration seems determined to play the role of Shylock to the bitter end.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder, where beneath the orbs
That decorate high heaven's dome,
He lives, who used to sternly say,
"A woman's place is in the home."

I wonder at the imposing number of mythologists who have retired to private life since the beginning of the war. They and the myths they circulated, are markedly absent and now, as they are seen in retrospect, we cannot fail to recognize their combined absurdities.

Yes, we remember the mythologists; isolationists, we called them, pacifists and fronters of various brands. We recall how many of them sat in high places, like the sirens of old, combing their golden hair and crooning soothing dittties, to which we listened enthralled, while the good ship, U. S. A. drifted nearer and ever nearer to the hidden reefs of national disaster. Those were the halcyone days of American peace, security and impregnability and then came the dawn of December seventh, nineteen hundred and forty one. Now the truth was inescapable so we hastened to our posts and the discredited mythologists folded their tents and silently decamped.

What became of the myths with which they regaled us? The two ocean barriers, it can't happen here, appeasement and many others too nebulous for retention. They were sunk in the mud of Pearl Harbor and the ship of state, freed from their cloying influence was free to follow her star of destiny and come at length to the harbor named Victory.

I wonder now, in turning to lighter subjects, what has become of certain manly mythologists who once declared with emphasis, "woman's place is in the home." Strange, but since the ladies joined the army we don't hear those impressive words any more. Why, the ladies, it seems can take the places vacated by the men folk and do very well in almost any unaccustomed occupation. They haven't forgotten the home, no indeed. When their war time services are no longer needed they will slip back into the old, familiar places and perhaps listen quizzically when some daring male tells them just where they belong.

All power to the women of America; no matter how strenuous the duties they are called upon to assume, they will not forget tThe gentilities and civilities of normal life and as soon as we, working all together can return the world to olden ways of gracious living, they will return to home and home duties, with a renewed faith in those values which they have aided in preserving and a new realization and respect for their own individual abilities to serve.

Indoor And Upstairs Safest In Gas Attack

1.—Serious injury may result from exposure to liquid gas which may fall from airplanes. It is, therefore, imperative to remain indoors and keep the windows closed.

2.—War gases are heavier than air. If you are inside a building, remain there, and, if possible, go upstairs. Do not complicate the military effort by leaving your house unless circumstances make it absolutely necessary. If you are outside and not able immediately to go indoors, walk —do not run —out of the gas area. Avoid puddles of liquid gas, basements, valleys and other low places.

3.—If the windows of your room are broken, go to another room or get out of the building.

4.—If you have been exposed to a war gas—

A. Breathe through cloths wet with a baking soda solution.

B. If you can go inside a building do so, but first remove your outer clothing and leave it outside.

C. Wash your hands and face with laundry soap and water.

D. Wash your eyes at once with a large amount of a solution of baking soda in a glass of water.

E. Take a bath using plenty of laundry soap.

F. Wash your eyes again with baking soda solution.

5—If splashes of liquid gas have gotten on you—

A. Using small pieces of cloth, cleansing tissue or toilet paper, blot up as much of the liquid as you can, being careful not to spread it.

B. Dab the contaminated area with cloths wet with chlorox, purex, santi-clor, etc.

C. Steps B. C. D. E and F in No. 4 above.

6—Do not get excited. If injured lie down and cover yourself with a blanket. Your air raid warden will summon medical aid.

There is no immediate serious danger from exposure to any known war gas if you follow these simple rules. Clip them out and memorize them.

(This has been approved by the medical division of the United States Office of Civilian Defense.)

In Air Raid Or Blackout Take Cover Immediately

What to do in an air raid:

—In any air raid or blackout, take cover immediately.

(A) If you are away from home, get off the street. You are ten times safer in a building than standing or walking on the street. If you are in a car, pull to the side of the road immediately. Do not double park. Keep clear of fire plugs. Get out of the car, bus or street car and take shelter.

(B) If you are at home, take immediate blackout precautions. Extinguish all lights. Have your fire protection equipment ready. Go to your blackout room; it should be the safest room in your home. Stay away from windows. Bomb explosions shatter glass for considerable distance.

2—Do not use the telephone. Remember those persons who have been trained to protect you—the air raid wardens, fire watchers, auxiliary firemen, the auxiliary police and many others must be able to get really important messages through. Your personal calls have got to wait until after the all clear signal.

3.—If you are caught in the open lie down on your stomach. You are twice as safe lying down as standing up.

4.—If incendiary bombs fall, play a coarse spray of water on them Put out the fires stated by the incendiaries first, then devote your attention to the bomb. The coarse spray of water burns the bomb up faster. A heavy jet, stream or bucket of water will make the bomb explode If you have no way of treating the bomb with water, cover it with dry sand. Then with a blunt nosed shovel scoop the bomb onto a pile of sand, dump the sand and bomb into a pail and take it outside.

5—Remember to obey your air raid warden and other members of the United States Citizens Defense Corps. They are trying to help you.

6—Above all —keep cool —stay home—put out lights—take shelter —lie down—stay away from windows. You can help.

(This has been approved by the civilian protection division of the United States Office of Civilian Defense).

PLANS BEING FORMULATED FOR MILITIA IN NEVADA COUNTY

One of the subjects discussed at the Nevada County Defense Committee's recent meeting was the forming of a militia for Nevada County. Frank Spurrier of the Extension Division, University of California, appeared before the board and outlined the plan.

Units may be formed in any section of the county. Any group from a squad to a company can apply for induction. Mr. Spurrier stated, that under the law, every male citizen automatically becomes a member of the state militia and is subjert to the call of the governor in any case of emergency necessary to maintain the safety of the state. He stated that an organized militia would prepare all citizens for service they might be called upon to perform, making it easier and safer for them and more efficient and effective in defense of the homes of California.

A discussion by the council resulted in a program of publicity for the militia plan, in order that those who desire to enlist may have the information. It was thought that there might be some sections of the county where groups, not already affiliated with the sheriff's reserve posse, might desire to enroll for the protection of their home communities. It was also thought that members who had already signed for service with the sheriff's posse reserve might desire additional training in military tactics. The militia program specializes in guerilla and Indian type of fighting similar to that now so successful in Russia, and in some of the invaded countries.

At the present time schools are being conducted by Sheriff Tobiassen and his staff, at which the proper procedure of the police during an invasion or emergency is being taught. Other subjects necessary during these times will be taken up by the classes as time progresses. Sheriff Tobiassen stated that his office will continue with his present organization and that he will cooperate to the fullest extent if the rural sections organize militia units for added preparedness.

STRICTER PLAN ADOPTED FOR DEFENSE PROGRAM

The Nevada County Defense Council has received word from the national organization that a simplified though stricter plan has been adopted for the defense program.

Duplications will be eliminated and the personnel will be accountable to the heads of the necessary committes for instruction and any necessary orders. Committee chairmen are expected to put their defense activities first in thenr progrms and to make all activities, other than the earning of their livelihood, in the background.

All defense volunteers will be trained and a record kept of their training and their proficiency in the particular duties. Schools will be conducted and examinations given and workers are expected to attend when called.

The organization in Nevada Conuty, both in the rural sections and in the cities is far ahead of many other sections of the state, according to word brought here by officials from the larger centers. However, it is necessary that improvement be shown everywhere as plans must be based on the probability of an attack, either by air or by ship, during this year. It is believed by the military experts that Japan will attempt repisals for the reversals suffered at the hands of our forces. Those who have studied the Japanese military psychology claim that they will attempt to "save face" with the Jap popultation.

All civilian defense volunteers will be notified by the press or by notice from their chairmen as the scheduled classes are started. All workers who have been issued insignias will be required to comply with the above or surrender them when called upon to do so.

Further Restrictions on Telephone Installations Are Necessary to Save Materials Vital to the War

The latest War Production Board Order further restricts the use by telephone companies of materials essential to the war effort. It restricts the building of cable or wire lines for the installation of new telephones, both business and residence, if more than a minimum of construction is involved — except for service necessary in the war effort or for public health, welfare and safety. It requires much wider use of party-line service.

The reason for these restrictions is to save additional quantities of critical materials used in providing telephone service—such as copper, aluminum, tin, steel, magnesium, zinc, nickel. These materials are urgently needed for the Nation's planes, tanks, guns, ships, munitions. They are VITAL TO VICTORY.

To install one extension telephone may require no more than 30 or 40 feet of copper wire, but to install thousands of them takes enough copper to wire a fleet of bombers.

The immediate effect of these restrictions upon the public will vary in different localities, depending upon what, if any, facilities are available. If you should be unable to secure the service you want, we know you will understand why. The temporary sacrifice of your personal convenience will make a worth while contribution to VICTORY—it is a real part of the price of protecting LIBERTY.
